Subject: Presentation of project Future for Education

June 7, 2023 the conference presenting the ongoing project "Future For Education was held at the Automotive and General Education School Complex in Bielsko-Biała. The results of effective and innovative remote teaching methods developed as a result of the prepared methodology were presented and discussed. Anna Bednarska - Director of the Chamber's Office presented the research results. The aim of the research activities undertaken as part of the implementation of the project is to make teaching more attractive by introducing more effective and innovative online teaching methods. The developed methodology will be a model tool for introducing hybrid education in vocational schools in all partner countries.

The research area on the basis of which the methodology was developed covered the southern region of the Silesian Voivodeship. The study was in the form of a questionnaire survey and was conducted using the CAWI (Computer-assisted web interviews) technique. The survey was prepared in Polish for two groups of respondents. The first were high school and university students who were included in remote teaching during the pandemic. The second group consisted of teachers and academic lecturers who, in the conditions of the pandemic, were forced to remotely prepare and conduct classes. Online surveys were available on the Google website, and information about the study was sent by e-mail, via social media and the Ms Teams platform, with a geographic restriction to the surveyed region. In addition, information about the study was sent to a group of teachers via the Department of Education and Sport of the Municipal Office in Bielsko-Biała. The research process lasted from December 2022 to the end of February 2023. 495 students and 67 teachers and academic lecturers took part in the study.

Both students and teachers attended the conference. In addition, during individual consultations with students and teachers, the most important conclusions and technical solutions aimed at improving the effectiveness of remote teaching and methods of effective online communication between teachers and students were provided.
